

FIS Market Data and Alerts

Wireless or Web Delivery of Real-Time Market Data

FIS Market Data and Alerts delivers the power of real-time, reliable market data integrated directly into your company Web site or delivered wirelessly to ensure advisors and investors always have access to critical information. FIS Market Data and Alerts adds value by leveraging existing news and quote contracts to provide an open, vendor-neutral HTTP-XML API that extends the reach of your market data through the Internet.

In addition to quote services, FIS Market Data and Alerts provides a news database, a real-time alert engine for instant notification of news and quote changes, symbol lookup and rich option search capabilities. Using the next generation of thin-client technology, FIS Market Data and Alerts extends the broker workplace onto wireless networks for the ultimate in convenience – anytime, anywhere access to real-time equity, option and index quotes and news.

Solution Highlights

- Fast, easy access to real-time equity, option and index quotes, alerts and news
- Access to stock watch lists, historical news, foreign exchange rates, complete option chains and more
- Device-neutral Web and custom J2ME applications
- Streamlined, customized information
- Extended quote and graphing capabilities
- Compatible with existing infrastructure and user profiles
- Integration with Portfolio and Order Management systems to facilitate “actionable alerts”

Solution Benefits

- Increase reach of market data through the Internet – advisors are no longer tied to terminals
- Improve quality of service to clients with investor-direct capabilities including timely market data
- Leverage existing quote provider contacts and avoid additional quote vendor costs
- Provide advisors and investors with all the market data and “actionable alerts” required to execute timely trades anytime, anywhere from any device (Web, cell phone, RIM Blackberry, PDA)
- Filters provide advisors with only relevant business information they require
